MANUAL REVISION

The master copy of this manual is maintained electronically on the company intranet.

The manual will be revised and issued in its entirety. Upon receipt of a revision, each manual holder will be responsible for replacing his or her manual with the new revision. Obsolete copies are destroyed.

All printed or electronically distributed copies can be checked for revision currency by viewing the electronic copy in the computer network Quality intranet.

The Quality Engineer is responsible for ensuring that the FAA is provided the most current version of this manual. Distribution of a current copy of this manual to the FAA will be in hard copy form or in a manner acceptable to the FAA. The FAA may verify currency of this manual by contacting the Quality Engineer (FAA Liaison). In addition, the FAA may verify currency of any company-controlled publication or document by contacting the Quality Engineer. [FAR 145.207(d)]

The manual will be initiated, written, and revised, as necessary, by the Jacksonville based Quality Engineer and the Accountable Manager. The initial issue and each revision to the manual will be approved by the Accountable Manager. The Jacksonville Quality Engineer will submit revisions to the FAA Flight Standards District Office (FSDO), 8427 South Park Circle, Suite 500, Orlando FL 32819. The manual revision will become effective on the Effective Date as stated in the Record of Revisions. Any part of this manual found not to be acceptable by the FAA will be rewritten and resubmitted for acceptance, superseding the unacceptable procedures.

Note1 - FAA Form 8130-3 "Return to Service" can only be provided where Unison Industries, LLC has PMA (Parts Manufacturing Approval) or DSA (Direct Shipment Authorization), or where repaired units contain components replacements or modification made within the requirement of FAR Part 21.303.

Revisions to the Capabilities List will be made in accordance with the requirement of the Repair Station Manual. Self-Evaluation for new items added to the list will be kept on file in the Repair Station.
